ACPA Names Linnenkohl Outstanding Government Official

The American Concrete Pavement Association (ACPA) presented its Outstanding Government Official of the Year to Harold E. Linnenkohl, Commissioner of the Georgia Department of Transportation (GDOT).

The Association award recognized Linnenkohl for his tireless advocacy for transportation improvements in the state of Georgia and through his work with the American Association of State and Highway Transportation Officials (AASHTO). AASHTO recently elected Linnenkohl as its president.

In presenting the award to Linnenkohl, ACPA President and CEO Gerald F. Voigt noted Linnenkohl's devotion to promoting new technology that increases the life of pavements. ACPA also recognized Linnenkohl's commitment to building safe, efficient highways and helping to provide an environment for GDOT to use quality concrete pavements.

The ACPA Outstanding Government Official Award is presented each year to recognize outstanding contributions by a government or public official for leadership in transportation activities with special emphasis on concrete pavement.

ACPA's members include paving contractors, cement companies, equipment manufacturers, material and service suppliers, ready-mixed concrete producers, allied associations/organizations, bonding and insurance companies, consulting firms, and other allied organizations and individuals.
